

The 2009 Maurice Brown Memorial Poetry Reading

"Westward, the trees light up one last time, bloody with autumn, before night." D. James

"The days (once)
all over us like melted jewel, rare unguent. Then twilight's bleed-through, night's black ice." D. Hinrichsen

DENNIS HINRICHSEN AND DAVID JAMES
