Kathleen Gordon, a student assistant at the Kresge Library at Oakland University, is gearing up for the "Food for Fines" campaign, which kicks off Nov. 28.

For each non-perishable food item brought to the Circulation Desk at the Kresge Library between Nov. 28 and Dec. 12, the library will forgive $1 in overdue fines.

"Students who owe no fines or fees can also drop off donations, which will we gladly accept."

The canned and boxed foods collected during the "Food for Fines" campaign will be donated to Gleaners Community Food Bank of Southeastern Michigan.

"Events like Food for Fines are so important to Gleaners because it gets the community involved and gives them a fun way to help their neighbors in need," said Natalie Davidson, food and fund drive coordinator for Gleaners Community Food Bank of Southeastern Michigan.

Headquartered in Detroit, Gleaners operates five distribution centers in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Livingston and Monroe counties and provides food to 535 partner soup kitchens, food pantries, shelters and other agencies throughout southeastern Michigan.

According to the organization’s website, Gleaners collects approximately 34.5 million pounds of food a year and distributes 79,000 meals day, including providing nourishing food and education to 84,700 children a year.

"Without the high-quality, free donations from food drives and campaigns like ‘Food for Fines,’ we wouldn’t be able to give out the amour and variety of food that we do," Davidson said.

According to Macpherson, the library collected 166 pounds of non-perishable food items and provided approximately 138 meals to those in need during a “Food for Fines” drive held in April, and officials hope to surpass that amount during the upcoming campaign.

"Our goal is 250 pounds," she said.

Suggested items to donate include:

- Canned fruit (no heavy syrup)
- Canned vegetables
- Tuna fish
- Peanut butter (in plastic jars)
Healthy cereal/oatmeal

Hearty soups, stews

Canned spaghetti or pasta

Beans (black, kidney, pinto or refried)

Canned meats (chicken, salmon)

Pasta, macaroni and cheese, rice

Pancake or baking mixes

Baby food or formula

Food items will not be accepted for lost items or book replacements.
