The Kresge Library has plans in place for December 11-13 to help students deal with the stresses of final exams and pay off any fines they may have accumulated during the semester.

Whether it is getting a henna temporary tattoo, learning to weave coasters, learning to knit, visiting with puppies or just enjoying a chair massage, the library has the recipe for stress relief from final exams.

In addition, if students owe library fines, the staff will also be hosting Food for Fines, from now through December 16.

“For each non-perishable food item brought to the Circulation Desk, the library will forgive $1 in overdue fines,” said Tracy Macpherson, manager of circulation services and resource sharing at the Kresge Library. “Students who owe no fines or fees can also drop off donations, which we will gladly accept.”

This semester’s stress-relieving schedule includes:
